Chiese a Sept. 19.—The Tribunes only rehensive reports of drought, and its effects above that it has almost ruined pastures in the northwest, and make plowing for winter wheat almost hisposable. It has caused a great decrease in the prospect for wheat agreege of 1882. The potato crop is nearly atom citizens everywhere, an all kinds of veglables will be scarce and frices of living be high the winter. In Hinnesota, Dakota and Wisconsin here has been toolmuch rain. THE ORIGON Have Just Rectived, Diin Minnesota, Dakota and Wisconsin here has been too much rain.

In southern I linois corn is being imported to simply the home demand, and people are hipping away ply the home demand, and people are hipping away ply the home demand, and people are hipping away all their stock in order the better to meet the winter. Eight reports from this state show the cornicro to be equal to 1889, 52 report it damaged; from 25 to 50 and 65 report the damage from 10 per cent to a failure.

It disposure two thirds of the corn is damaged 20 to 50 per, cont. Kansas, though more favored by rain, reports corn 20 to 75 per cent damaged.

Unio and Indiana out of 67 reports, 24 show corn damaged 60 to 15 per cent, it can be readily seen the condition of corn is no better than in other portions of the corn belt.

Iowa, from 33 reports show corn damaged 20 to 75 per cent, and a senoral average of damage of 63 per cent, and a senoral average of damage of 65 per cent.

Nobrasks reports, crops greatly reduced. Recent rains all over the nerthwest have greatly helped the fall seeding.
